BELIEF IN 'NOTHING'

I believe in the most nebulous of things -- tomorrow. For, as the anonymous philosopher says, "that is where we spend the rest of our lives."

tThat tomorrow, the next breath you draw, the next minute of your life, the next act -- voluntary or involuntary -- is decided by yesterdays' tomorrows, the futures past.

Time present is quickly drawn and quickly passes. Your body produces 3 billion new cells a minute, their span of present over as quickly, almost, as begun.

And it goes that way. Ideas and people change, sometimes, within minutes. And that we count on in the future.

"What is truth?" sayeth Pontius Pilate, and would not stay for an answer," quoting from the famous essay by Bacon.

"That we are here today to be gone tomorrow?" questions rhetorically a man in time.

"That we live now for tomorrow," concludes a sage, knower of life, forgiver of things, forgetting nothing were he to choose otherwise.

Life compels tomorrows. So we are compelled to believe in them. And if we know there is a future, we might as well put ourselves into it.

Think frightened of tomorrow? Never! Run scared, as if the shadows are real? Often. But fear what we can not imagine because it has not happened? Never!

Love and courage, those finest of truths, reduce fear to ashes. Even in the nebulae of tomorrow.

Water Lines Boost Rural Construction

Water lines to rural areas are changing the outlook for Milam County and more dramatic changes, such as subdivisions for weekend ranchettes, are in the planning stage.

Henry Ivey, Farmers Home Administration supervisor, said almost $1.2 million in water system loans have been approved since 1964 and extensions are now in the planning stage that will bring water to every community in Milam County except Ad Hall and Pettibone.

The water lines have not only brought more pleasant living to people in the rural communities, they have made rural living for permanent or weekend homes more attractive to city dwellers. In the process they have raised the value of available land.

Ivey said land values usually go up about $25 per acre when water lines are connected.

One of the first water systems in Milam County was at Gause where 92 residents first subscribed to the service. Presently that system has 152 subscribers. Many of them, according to Ivey, are to homes constructed or improved since the water line opened. He said FHA had financed 35 new homes in Gause since the system began operation and many others had been built there in recent years under private financing.

Since the Milano Water Supply Corp. came into existence a Houston based real estate developer has purchased about 1,000 acres of land southeast of Milano for sub-dividing into 15 acre ranchettes. This is the first subdivision of this size in Milam County. Principal buyers are expected to come from Houston.

Similar growth has been experienced at Minerva where one subdivision opened by Joe Tomerlin has 8 homes completed and another subdivision is selling small tracts for future home construction.

A Beaumont contractor and architect toured Milam County by plane recently and commented that he had flown over the state and most of the southwest and "I haven't seen any areas with as much contruction in progress as is presently underway in Milam County." Ivey credited the water systems for much of the interest in rural home construction.

Water systems presently in operation are Gause, Milano, Salem-Elm Ridge, Branchville, Minerva, Marlow, Baileyville and North Milam. Systems under construction are Southwest Milam and the Bell, Falls, Milam Water Corporation.

Ivey said engineers are working on plans to extend both the Southwest Milam and Milano systems to take in an estimated 600 additional subscribers. The Southwest Milam system would be extended to serve San Gabriel, Tracy, Sharp and Lanesport. The Milano system would extend south into Burlison County to include the area around Woodson Lake.

He said some interest in a water system for Ad Hall and Pettibone had been expressed by land owners in those communities.

Charter Granted To Folk Fete, Inc.

Application for a charter has been approved and Folk Fete is now Folk Fete Incorporated, according to Bob Ellett, ex officio member of the Fete board.

The newly incorporated organization will be like the Cameron Industrial Foundation, Inc., a non-profit corporation selling shares to local residents to finance the two-year-old festival.

Officers will be named by the board, members of which represent various ethnic and participating groups within the Fete, which last year attracted over 8,000 people.

By-laws of the new corporation will also be adopted.

Fire Threatens Pettibone Home

Cameron Volunteer Firemen were called Sunday afternoon to the Pettibone community where a fire destroyed a shed and scorched the side of the Steve Svetlik home.

The fire apparently started in the shed, Mrs. Svetlik said. Only damage to the house was burned siding near the shed.

Bell Telephone Asks For Rate Increase

An application for an increase in basic telephone rates -- the first such request in more than 12 years -- was filed by Southwestern Bell Tuesday with the Cameron City Council.

Dennis Richter, manager for Southwestern Bell, told council members that even though the application has been filed, it is understood that, if approved, the request schedule will not be made effective because of the restraints imposed under the Economic Stabilization Act of 1970, but will become effective when permitted by such restraints.

Richter went on to tell the council that "continued inadequate earnings on our operations -- in the face of today's high cost of doing business -- leaves no choice but to ask for this increase in local rates."

The new rates requested by the company include a monthly increase in business one-party from $11 to $13; residence one-party from $5.75 to $6.25 and residence two-party from $4.25 to $.75.

"Present rates in Cameron were established in 1959, based on statistics gathered in 1957." Richter explained. "Since then, taxes, wages and the company's investment in Cameron have all grown to the extent that we must seek this increase. The present rates, based on 1957 operations, are simply too low to meet the company's cost of doing business today."

Richter stressed that the company has been able to hold the line on basic rates over the last 12 years by continued and incrased sales activities and use of numerous technological advances in equipment facilities. These factors, he pointed out, allowed the company to meet some of the increased costs of doing business without asking an increase.

"The company has done all it can to keep expenses here as low as possible," Richter said, "but the only solution is to request a reasonable increase in rates in line with today's higher costs. We hope the request will receive prompt and favorable action."

Council took the request under consideration.

In other business during a regular meeting, the Mayor and councilmen heard a progress report from A. W. McCullin, executive director of the Urban Renewal Agency. He noted that about 96 percent of acquisitions were complete, and 88 percent of relocations.

Councilmen discussed a drainage problem at 7th and Jefferson and authorized City Works Supt. James Hale to install 18 inch drain pipe under 7th St.

City Secy. J. P. Fuller was authorized to ask for bids on a new police car to replace car number 4.

Routine bills were paid and department heads reports approved.

LOCAL YOUTH DIES IN CRASH

Julius R. Tepera, 19, of Rt. 1, Cameron was killed early Sunday when he apparently lost control of his car on a county road. The car hit a tree and rolled over.

The accident occurrred about 4:30 a.m. on the old Waco crossing road about 2 1/2 miles west of Cameron, according to investigating Highway Patrolman Leroy Broadus.

Tepera was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace Jess Brock.

He was a native of Cameron, a Yoe High graduate and a student at Temple Junior College. He was also a member of the KJT Lodge.

Funeral service was held at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday at St. Monica's Catholic Church, the Rev. John Geiser officiating. Burial was in St. Monica Cemetery. Rosary was recited at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the Marek-Burns-Laywell Funeral Home.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Tepera of Cameron; one brother, Benard J. Tepera of Cameron; two sisters, Mrs. Gertrude Vollmer of Arlington and Miss Veronica Tepera of Cameron; and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zarosky of Cameron and Mrs. Frances Tepera of Taft.

Smallpox Vaccination No Longer Compulsory For School Children

Compulsory vaccination for smallpox has been lifted by the State Board of Health as a requirement for entering school.

Required immunizations effctive next January 1 include for grade school pupils diphtheria, tetanus, poliomyelitis, rubella and measles (if the child hasn't had measles).

The U. S. Public Health Service recently held compulsory smallpox immunization is no longer necessary in the United States since risk of the disease is so small here. Last known cases were in 1949 in the Rio Grande Valley.

School Board Seeks New Tax Collector

The Cameron school board is still seeking a tax assessor-collector following a discussion of seven applicants during a regular meeting Tuesday evening.

Applicants will be interviewed at the December board meeting.

The thorny question about boys hair came up in a letter to the board from Donald Shuffield, senior at Yoe High.

A lively discussion ended with board members agreeing that rules and regulations were "necessary to discipline which is necessary to good education."

Board President Hilliard Thomas expressed appreciation for the letter.

The board voted 4-1, with one abstaining, to approve a motion requiring that all immunizations, including smallpox, be completed before a child can enter school, unless exempt by parental consent.

Thomas noted that state law no longer requires smallpox immunizations.

Other discussions centered on a shortage of readers at junior high, band discipline, and the apparent lack of some underwear by high school girls.

Board also discussed buying a new school bus or having the old ones completely renovated at the Texas Prison System shop.

A letter of appreciation and commendation will be sent to health unit personnel for their handling of the diphtheria immunizations for school children.

Supt. D. R. Dodson said a representative from the architectual firm of Matthews and Associates, of Bryan, will start Friday on a complete survey of the school plant. Recommendations and plans will be submitted to the board, probably by the December meeting.

Highway Banquet Set For Tonight

Texas Highway Department district staff members will be honored by the Cameron Chamber of Commerce Thursday, November 18. The annual barbeque and fellowship will be held in the Methodist Fellowship hall at 7 p.m.

Local and district officials, a their wives, promise a large cr for the annual event.

Joe G. Hanover, district engineer, will review road programs now underway and those in the planning stage for Milam County.

Words And Dreams ...

If memory serves, the Mainland Chinese government is heading its new UN delegation with a propagandist just as North Vietnam once did the Paris Peace Talk delegation when the U. S. was trying to settle the Viet question with Hanoi.

Knowing this, it should surprise no one that the "maiden speech" of the Mainland Chinese deputy foreign minister, Chiao Kuan-hua, was a blast at the superpowers of U. S. and Russia.

Modern communist leadership is no different than the revolutionary generations of Lenin and Trotsky. Indeed Mao is the architect of the China Revolution of 1949-50 which sent Chaing-kai-shek to Taiwan.

UN diplomats, the press says, anticipated something more concilatory. But since a U. S. underground nuclear test at Amchitka went off without ecological mishap and Russia is entrenching larger nuclear capability, Mainland China is not going to pass off lightly their entrance into the UN after a 22-year wait.

Red China, newest of the major powers in the world, rose by revolution within the China mainland, just like the U. S. and Russia. But Mao is without the ultimate capability the U. S. and Russia maintain, even though agreements for world survival place testing underground.

His advantage at present is the UN podium where the dramatic vote for Red China's entrance, with calculated U. S. approval, is fresh in the minds of these other great powers and dozens of little nations. They are, pragmatically, looking to some prospect of China's support if the U. S. is isolating and Russia is apparently returning to one-man leadership of the Politboro.

At any rate, words are cheap. Once these smaller nations see the limits of Red Chinese aid, which are presently small even by comparison with reduced U. S. aid their vote and vocal support for Red Chinese demagoguery will subside. China is more interested in world markets than direct aid to emerging smaller nations.

Chaing himself assured Red China's final emergence as a world power and entry into the UN. He built Taiwan into an island fortress as a province of the Mainland. Until a few weeks ago, he obviously dreamed of returning to power in Peking and reclaiming the mainland.

But possession is 90 percent of power politics as it is said of the law, and Mao occupied Mainland China.

So the propagandists from the Asiatic World lead diplomatic delegations. And they use the dogma of Mao, the militant author of the Mainland China Revolution, whom, it should be remembered, is of the same generation as Chaing, who lost his dream to Mao, who now might well lose his dream in a world one-third communist.

Neither will be around to know the outcome.

December Hearings Set For Insurance Regulations

By Bill Boykin

Hearings of major interest to insurance policy holders are scheduled here December 8.

The State Board of Insurance slated for that date public airing of new regulations to prevent insurance companies from arbitrarily cancelling coverage and a proposal to lower auto policy rates through "shock - absorbing" bumpers.

Allstate Insurance Company of Illinois recommends a 10 per cent premium discount for new cars equipped with the tough bumpers beginning next year. Rates would be reduced to 15 per cent if cars can by demonstration take a five-miles-per-hour front - end crash and a two-and-a-half-miles -per-hour rear end wallop. Rates would drop 20 per cent if the bumpers can absorb a five-miles-per-hour blow fore and aft.

New federal regulations call for the shock-absorb bumpers with five mph (front) and two-and-a-half mph (rear) capacity by 1973 models.

Proposed regulations would prohibit cancellation of hazard and liability insurance which has been in effect 60 days or more unless holders fail to pay premiums or lose a driver's license (auto coverage).

Under the rules to be examined at the early December hearing, companies would have to give at least 30 days' written notice if they do not intend to renew a policy at the end of a year. Unless the notice is given, renewal would be required for another year. Firms which violate the rules could lose their licenses to operate in Texas.

The latter regulations resulted from special legislation passed this year following repeated complaints of motorists who claimed policies were cancelled without advance notice.

A hearing was scheduled earlier for December 7 to consider all aspects of problems in operating the new castastrophe property insurance pool in 14 coastal counties.

JUKE BOX HEARINGS

The new Texas Vending Commission decided to air its problems in a series of seminars over the state after being hit with criticism over the regulations it must enforce.

Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin suggested a Commission - led seminar discussion of the coin operated amusements machine industry and pertinent laws.

Meanwhile, State Sen. Chet Brooks of Pasadena called on Gov. Preston Smith to remove Raymond B. Williams of Dallas, a vending machine tycoon, as chairman of the Commission. Smith noted the law provides for three industry representatives to serve on the Commission, and said it is too late to remove Williams. Williams said he has no intention of resigning.

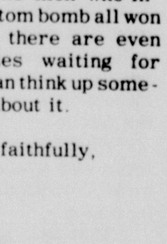
The House General Investigating Committee is gathering material concerning the vending industry controversy and Chairman Rep. Menton Murray of Harlingen has indicated a probe may be directed at a later meeting.

Commissioner Williams and the other two industry representatives vowed publicly they will not use their official positions to get information about their 2,800 competitors from Commission files.

PAY RAISES ORDERED

The state proposed to begin the last half of this month granting state employees and school teachers pay raises approved by the Legislature unless stopped by the Federal Pay Board.

Governor Smith said an application has been sent to the Pay Board requesting permission to make retroactive raise payments to September 1 when the new state budget took effect.



OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editar:

After following the news recently about detergents I have come to the conclusion that the way of the ecologist is hard.

As you know, housewives, after being convinced that regular detergents coming out of their washing machines were putting too much phosphate into the streams and lakes of the nation, decided, on the advice of the authorities, to switch to non-phosphate brands which quickly appeared on the market.

Now the Surgeon General has reversed the advice and says the new-style detergents have too much casutic in them and are therefore unsafe, particularly for children. In fact, he says the housewives should go back to the phosphate detergents for the time being until something better is found. I don't know what this does to ecology but it sure caves two-thirds of day-time television.

However, I got to thinking. Was everybody's clothes dingy before automatic washing machines were invented? Was everybody ashamed to hang his clothes out to dry where neighbors could sneer at them? You mean every President before the last four was inaugurated with a dirty collar?

Of course not. While the Surgeon General wrings his hands over having to choose between phosphate detergents and caustic detergents, why doesn't somebody tell him how cothes used to be washed?

The answer to the problem is homemade soap, made from hog fat.

If the professional ecologists are on the ball they'll come out with a campaign for a hog in everybody's backyard and four washpots in every block.

Of course, it'll give rise to some other problems, particularly in the summer with a strong breeze wafting over the hog pen, but that's not my problem.

Nowadays, all people want is a solution to the immediate problem. The fact that the solution creates more problems than the problem is beside the point and offers a challenge for more solutions. The men who invented the atom bomb all won prizes, but there are even bigger prizes waiting for those who can think up something to do about it.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Letters to the Editor

November 12, 1971

Dear Editor:

We are most appreciative of the splendid publicity your newspaper gave our Boy Scout Good Turn Day drive.

Thanks to your help and the work of the Boy Scouts and many volunteers, we have collected over 11,000 bags in the Waco area alone this year, and we are still making pickups in surrounding counties. We find this fine publicity also helps increase donations in our boxes located throughout the Central Texas area.

We are grateful for your participation in this annual project. Without media cooperation, a drive of this type could not possibly succeed. Five bags provide a day's earnings for a Goodwill worker, so you can readily see how valuable this collection can be in providing meaningful employment and rehabilitation to the handicapped of the Central Texas area.

Sincerely,
A. P. Garrett

TAP Months Proclaimed

AUSTIN

To call public attention to the quality, economy and availability of Texas Agricultural Products, Governor Preston Smith has designated the months of November and December, 1971 as "Texas Agricultural Products Months."

The Governor's designation also marks the beginning of the fourth year of the Texas Department of Agriculture's "Texas Agricultural Products" (TAP) program which Commissioner John C. White initiated in 1968.

"The goal of the TAP program," the Governor reminded Texans, "is improving and expanding the market for Texas-grown food and fibers, including beef, pork, turkey, dairy products, forestry, fruits, vegetables, pecans, peanuts, poultry, eggs, rice, honey, cotton, wool and mohair."

In promotion of Texas agricultural products, the Texas Department of Agriculture uses billboards, newspapers, radio and television, individual mailings and visits of Department personnel to the more than 15,000 food stores in Texas.

Governor Smith urges Texas retailers to exhibit Texas agricultural products and Texas consumers to look for and buy them, especially during the TAP months of November and December.

TAP PROMOTION - Gov. Preston Smith and Texas Agriculture Commissioner John C. White display some of Texas' abundant foods as the governor proclaims the months of November and December as "Texas Agricultural Products Months."

4-H'ers carrying projects in gardening, landscape improvement, home and lawn care should be on the alert for fall plant care. Although fall usually brings to mind falling leaves and a reduction in plant beauty from the spring bouquets, plants need attention in the winter also. Don't put the gardening tools away for the winter November and the winter are prime gardening months.

The season is ideal for planting and transplanting trees and shrubs in the landscape. In the late fall, nurseries are restocked when new and exciting plants, which will entice the weakest plant enthusiast.

November should not pass without completing spring bulb plantings with the exception of tulips which should be delayed until late December. Pansy plants need to be set out in a rich soil in the sun. They will add color and beauty to the duller winter colors.

December and January are rose planting months. Even though cool, November can be dry, water is essential to plants even now. Don't forget to water them for best results. Evergreens are in the same situation. Often because of the term evergreen we fail to water them properly.

Winter months are useful for repairing and renewing equipment. Repair that mower that you haven't had time to fix. New plugs, points and carburetor cleaning will save you trouble next spring.

Sharpen tools and coat them with a thin layer of light oil to prevent rust from forming. Coil up water hoses in a convenient place. An old bucket fastened to the wall with hoses wrapped around it will help lengthen hose life, but will also be handy for use.

ROCKDALE CLUB MEETS

The Rockdale 4-H'ers met in regular session Thursday, November 11 at the meeting room of the Rockdale State Bank. President Deborah Stephen presided and led the group in a discussion of the annual club Christmas party.

The club members decided to hold their party on December 10 from 7 until 9 p.m. The members would exchange gag gifts and also provide a "good will" gift to a local charity.

Refreshments were served to the 15 4-H'ers and adult leaders present.

Food, Fiber Week Tells Ag Story

By Bill McCutchen

Eat hearty this Thanksgiving and be thankful for the feast before you, because much of it was produced here in Texas and you can be sure of its freshness and quality.

The story of American agriculture and the success of this industry is one of the greatest success stories in the history of this nation. Texas Food and Fiber Week, November 15-21 provides an opportunity to tell the story of agriculture.

This agricultural success and food abundance is tied very closely to agricultural chemicals such as fertilizers, pesticides, herbicides, and growth hormones. These tools of the trade have enabled agriculture to produce this abundance of quality food and it bothers me when someone attacks the usage of these materials without sound reasoning.

Can you imagine what the food bill would be if it were not for these chemicals; that is if food were available? Agriculture would be set back 30 - 40 years and would be incapable of feeding this country let alone the rest of the world.

I am for clean air and water and I think agriculture has done more to preserve these than any other industry. I also have a habit of eating three meals a day and modern agriculture makes this possible.

SWC AWARD

Henry Abel was named as an outstanding Conservation Farmer Tuesday night at the Little River - San Gabriel Soil and Water Conservation District Awards supper in Bartlett.

Rep. Dan Kubiak of Rockdale presented Abel a plaque recognizing his achievements in applying soil and water conservation practices on his farm.

State Sen. Murray Watson spoke to the group and praised agriculture for its achievements in the field of conservation, production and pollution control.

Rep. John Bigham of Temple was also present and participated in the program.

My compliments to G. E. Kretzschmar and the other supervisors for helping to tell agriculture's story.

PEST CONTROL ACT

Senate Bill 910 or what is commonly known as the Structural Pest Control Act requires licensing of all structural pest control operators inclusive of those who spray trees, lawns, etc. December 7, 1971 is the deadline for licensing.

If a person has been engaged in the structural pest control business for 2 or more years prior to September 7, they need only to make application through the Structural Pest Control Board along with payment of a $50 fee for each place of business plus an additional $5 for each serviceman.

If the person has not been in business for this period of time, they should follow the same procedure and in addition they will be examined by the Structural Pest Control Board for proof of competency.

I have a copy of Senate Bill 910 and other information on this topic available in my office, if there are questions on this subject.

This in no way prevents a person from treating his own premises.

Partners Charged In Stockyards Act

Carl Gistinger, Jesse Gistinger and W. F. Lawhorn, operators of the Falls County Livestock Auction, a posted stockyard at Marlin, have been charged with violating conflict of interest and accounting requirements of the Packers and Stockyards Act, the U. S. Department of Agriculture said today.

USDA's Packers and Stockyards Administration charged in an administrative complaint that the partners purchased livestock consigned for sale on a commission basis at the stockyard for their own speculative accounts, from March 1 through July 12, 1971. In addition, P&SA charged that the partners issued accounts of sale to livestock consignors which failed to show the correct information.

Market agencies are required under P&S regulations to maintain an "arm's length" business relationship with livestock buyers.

The partners have a right to request a hearing on the charges. If the charges are proven, they could be placed under a cease and desist order, and their registration could be temporarily suspended.

The P&S Act is a fair trade practices law. It promotes and maintains fair and open competition in the marketing of livestock, poultry and meat. The Act is administered on a nondiscriminatory basis.

Shopping Ideas That Make Cents

By Christine Laws
Co. Home
Demonstration Agent

Shop with a grocery list and make food buying "cents." A key to making a thrifty list, is checking newspaper ads. Find out what meats, fresh produce, frozen foods and staples are on special, then work them into your weekly menu.

Make the menu as complete as possible so it serves as a guide when planning a shopping list. On the list, jot down items by departments to save steps in the store.

At the market, learn to recognize economical specials, then how to take advantage of them. If an item you use often or one that keeps well is on special, it is a good food investment. But buy according to home storage space. For example, family - size bags of frozen foods are economical, but only if you have a freezer to store them. Keeping frozen foods in the ice cube compartment of a refrigerator will not maintain their quality, since the compartment doesn't provide the 0 degree temperature necessary for prolonged frozen storage.

Remember price is no measure of nutritional value of food. Even though loin steaks are pleasurable eating, other cuts such as chuck or round provide the same healthy boon at a more economical price.

Large cuts of meat on special often mean a bargain in price per pound, as well as meat for several meals.

Compare the prices of meats and poultry with the number of servings you'll get from each pound. Here's a rule of thumb--figure on four servings from a pound of boneless meat, two servings from a pound with bone-in, and one serving from a very bony choice.

Eggs are one of the biggest boosters. A serving of two can cost as little as 10 cents, often even less. And eggs are good alternates for meat.

If you shop only once a week, avoid waste by using up fresh produce and other perishables first. If necessary, rely on canned and frozen foods for meals at the latter part of the week.

Fruits and vegetables reduced for quick sale rate consideration if you are buying for immediate use. Mellow ripe bananas to stir into bread, or apples with blemished skins for applesauce promise good eating and usually give you your money's worth.

No one ever seems to tire of potatoes--a penny - wise vegetable. Potatoes keep well, but only if you store them properly. Keep them in a ventilated, cool dry spot away from direct light.

Day-old baked goods are usually offered at reduced rates, but they are as fresh as if bought the day before and stored at home.

Include alternates on your shopping list in case one food is a better buy over another. A special on canned fruit might be a savings over the fresh ones on your list.

Take time to read labels, comparing brands, grades and sizes -- the keys to many savings. Canned whole fruits, for exapmple, make attractive salads, but cut varieties in baked desserts taste just as good. Private or regional brands often cost less than nationally advertised brands.

Put a little fun in your shopping cart and surprise the family with something new. Occasional impulse buying isn't good.

If saving time and work is important, convenience foods or "instants" may be good buys. "They're like a built-in maid service."

Consider ready-to-heat foods when making a shopping list. Some convenience foods cost less than homemade dishes. A serving of canned vegetable soup figures out to about six cents. Compare this to homemade vegetable soup. Also bear in mind how much your family will eat. A small can may be the best choice for a two-some; it gives mealtime variety yet eliminates left - overs.

When food shopping, pennies do count. Three to four cents off a 25 cents can of beans for example, a 10 to 15 percent savings -- not bad for just a few pennies. Applying this kind of shopping sense can save you as much as $5 on a $30 weekly bag of groceries. At the end of the month, that's an extra $20 in your pocket!

CAULIFLOWER -- Since cauliflower is most abundant from September until January, Extension foods and nutrition specialists remind consumers that now is the time to look for white to cream-white cauliflower with compact solid and clean curds. If jacket leaves are attached, a good green color is a sign of freshness.

Anti-Drunk Car DeviceDeveloped

By Geoffrey Murray
Reuter Correspondent

TOKYO

Japan's latest contribution to road safety is a car that cannot be driven if the driver has been drinking.

Five workers of the Honda Motor Company are credited with developing a sensor that sniffs out drinkers and stops them from driving.

At the first whiff, the ignition locks. If the car is in motion, there is a 10-second warning before the motor turns off.

The sensor is located in the steering wheel. In a dramatic test at the Tokyo motor show this year officials flashed a glass of whisky under the sensor's "nose". It reacted immediately and seconds later the test car's engine ground to a halt.

Honda officials, now seeking worl patents for the device, have started practical tests which they hope will enable them to start marketing the product early in 1972.

Honda has given few details of the sensor's technical aspects, saying simply that is consists of a piece of platinum which reacts to temperature change caused by alcohol in the bloodstream.

The main problem now is to ensure that the sensor cannot be triggered by the beery breath of a passenber or by any other odor such as a woman's perfume.

It has a maximum range of 12 inches which would be enough, the company believes, to limit its operation to the driver's breath.

But engineers admit that, potentially, a drunken passenger could lean over the steering wheel and stop the car -- a dangerous habit if a sober driver was traveling at high speed.

Honda believes, however, that the 10-second warning -- a loud buzzer and flashing amber light -- would give the driver sufficient time to pull over.

In the United States a similar "stop the drunken driver" device tests mental coordination with combinations of numbers on a dashboard calculator.

Failure to handle the sums in a few seconds' time limit locks the ignition.

The Japanese believe their system is more foolproof.

Under Japanese law, drivers are not allowed even one drink. But in practice police can only handle a limited number of cases of obvious incapacity.

Honda engineers believe their device can be controlled to react to only a certain level of alcohol.

One of the designers commented: "I'd hate to be around if a completely sober driver, with only one drink under his belt, found his car refusing to budge."

The anti-drunk device emerged from an annual ideas competition staged by Honda for its workers.

Because of the monotonous nature of many assembly line jobs. The company encourages workers to "create their dreams" in their spare time, using company equipment. The result are sometime incorporated into Honda products.

Five young workers spent two months on the theoretical aspects of this device, and another month producing it.

The Cameron 8th grade team remained undefeated this year by defeating the Round Rock 8th grade team 10-6 last Thursday night.

Later in the same quarter Jafus White threw a 40 yard pass to Frank Tena for the first touchdown, with the conversion made by Tena on a pass from Hollas.

The score at halftime was Cameron 10, RR 0. Later in the third quarter RR scored 4 yards out. The conversion attempt failed.

Outstanding offensive players were Dennis Hollas, Robert Miller, Jafus White, Frank Tena, and Joe Smitherman.

Outstanding on defense were Ronnie Bennett, James Walker, Stanley Manners, Frank Tena, Joe Smitherman, Mark Michalka, Benard Tepera and Louis Cazares.

Wrestlers Coming To Yoe High Gym

Arrangements were completed last week between the Noon Lions Club and Gulf Coast Wrestling Promoter Mike Erdmann to bring a star-studded group of professional wrestlers to Cameron Saturday night, November 20, it was announced today by Gene Smithermann, president of the Noon Lions Club.

The exciting event begins at 8:30 p.m. in the Cameron High School Gym and will feature Eric and Karl Von Krupp of Essin, Germany; Mighty Yankee from America, Pussycat Pickens from Arkansas and a popular wrestler in Texas, Smokey Robertson from Texas and Cecil Armendarez from Mexico.

Initial reaction to the event has caused the Noon Lions Club to expect a record turnout.

The matches are expected to get underway with the first event being a 15-minute contest of skill between Smokey Robertson and his enemy Eric Von Krupp. Smokey has been promised this match for some time in order to prove that his professional skill can overcome a bully like Von Krupp.

The semi-final, a 2 out of 3 falls 60 minute match, will feature the seasoned Mighty Yankee who has recently returned from Japan and the extremely competent professional wrestler from Mexico, Cecil Armendarez. The main event will be a tag team match with the colored tag team champions, Pussycat Pickens and Smokey Robertson combating the devious and cruel Von Krupp Brothers.

This should be one of the most exciting sports events to be held in Cameron in a long time. Tickets will be available at the box office that evening beginning at 6 p.m. with ringside of $2.00 and general admission at $1.50

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

by Vern Sanford

Light Prevents Rust

If you keep your guns in a cabinet, install a small-watt light bulb. The burning bulb on a humid day will evaporate moisture and prevent the guns from gathering rust.

Aerating Aids Taste

When on a camping trip, boil water if you are not sure of its purity. Then pour it back and forth in containers to aerate to remove the flat taste.

Bright Light Irks Worms

Use a colored filter over your flashlight lens when searching for night crawlers. White light irritates worms and causes them to seek cover.

Use Care With Repellents

Read directions carefully on insect repellent spray cans. Some have chemicals that will damage synthetic material. Some repellents will soften plastic shotgun shells, causing them to jam in the gun, and turn nylon line on a fishing reel into a sticky jelly.

Match Box From Hulls

Used shotgun shells make handy, waterproof match stick containers. Put the matches in a 20-guage hull and then slip a 12-guage hull over the open end.

Film Spools For Line

Those empty roll-film spools are handly for the storage of extra fishing line and leaders.

Former Cameronite Wins Cycle Trophies

Former Cameronite Phillip McCall has hit "big time" with his newly acquired sport -- motorcycle racing.

The McCalls now live in Killeen.

Phillip, racing in the mini-cycle class, has acquired nine first, two second, and one third place trophies. He has also had two articles in a national magazine.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

BY VERN SANFORD

Often the squirrel has been called "the little teacher."

That's about as apt a nickname as any.

Fortunately, most Texas youngsters get their first taste of hunting in the squirrel woods.

Show me someone who is proficient at hunting squirrels and I'll show you a hunter who can hold his own with any kind of game. A person who can sit statue-still on a stand or slip silently on light feet through the woods to beguile a squirrel can certainly do the same with deer. The squirrel is no pushover. No sir, not by a long shot.

The squirrel has one weakness, however. Its eyes are adapted to movement and it can be fooled by something which does not move. The hunter who steals into the sullen woods just at daybreak, finds himself a comfortable spot to sit down and stays put is going to see squirrels if there are any around.

It isn't difficult to pinpoint these arboreal critters. Squirrels just can't seem to keep their big mouths shut. They rush around in the treetops making all sorts of commotion. But when there is a hint of danger, one can spraddle flat on a limb and be all but invisible to probing eyes.

Squirrel hunting teaches the fledgling hunter many important things about outwitting game. It teaches him to be still and quiet, to have roving, sharp eyes to detect any unnatural movement, to be able to accurately judge range and to set the squirrel up for a fatal shot.

A good weapon for the beginning squirrel hunter is a Marlin Model 24, the standard model with a .22 rimfire in one barrel, .410 shotgun in the other. It holds only one of each kind of ammo. This way there is less chance of an accident. With the shotgun, the youngster is ready for the short or moving shots; the .22 rimfire takes care of medium-range shooting.

Although the opening of the squirrel season is heralded with much fanfare in parts of the state, particularly East Texas, in many other counties it is open the year around. One of the best times to seek the diminutive bushytails is during early fall, in a grove of oak or pecan trees, when the nuts are ripening and the critters are out and feeding.

Texas has a sizable population of both species of squirrels, the reddish-colored fox squirrel and the grayish gray squirrel. The gray squirrel is most abundant in East Texas. The larger fox squirrel is found predominately through the Hill Country in the heart of the state.

Hunting squirrels is the same no matter what locale or the particular specie of bushytail you might be after. It is a quiet and slow game of wits . . . . with the hunter trying to see the squirrel before revealing his presence. Once a squirrel is spooked it is doubly hard to get it in the skillet.

One of the squirrel's most annoying habits is its tactical withdrawal to the opposite side of the tree the hunter is circling. A bit of its tail—constantly just out of range—slowly and enticingly lures the maddened hunter in a merry-go-round chase as the squirrel in question retreats one step ahead of his pursuer.

According to the lore of old Texas squirrel hunters, there is only one sure way for a single hunter (without dog) to outfox such a maneuver. Make sure the squirrel isn't peeking, then hang your hunting jacket on a branch where you are standing. Retreat carefully to the background then slowly circle the tree from a considerable distance. Supposedly the squirrel will continue to regard your jacket as his prime enemy and focus his attention accordingly. Meanwhile you sneak up on its blind side.

WHAT ARE YOU READING?

Last year thousands of new books were published in America. Some are already forgotten. Others became best-sellers. Yet the best-selling book of all time is probably not listed in your weekly book review

This book is the Bible. It contains the record of God's love for mankind and His wish to reconcile man to Himself through Jesus Christ. That's quite an order, isn't it?

To understand the meaning of life and our relation to God, we cannot lightly scan the pages of this Book like a recent novel. In fact, we must have the help of scholars and students of centuries past.

Your church represents generations of accumulated knowledge and faith which will help you discover, in fellowship with others, the meaning and direction of life.

Aunt Sarah, I love you.

Remember my 10th birthday, when you gave me that funny piece of green paper and everybody made such a fuss over it. (Except me.) Frankly, it was a pretty disappointing present for a kid. I couldn't eat it, couldn't play with it, couldn't wear it—and Mom took it away from me practically the minute I got it.

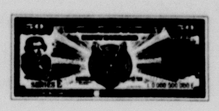
And every birthday after that (and Christmas, too), you gave me another one of those Bonds, you called them. I thought you were pretty gooney.

At least, I never had to guess what I was going to get from good old reliable Aunt Sarah.

And what I got was good old reliable U.S. Savings Bonds.

What I didn't realize then was that you gave me a gift of security for the future. Thanks to you and those Bonds, I had extra funds for college. And they helped when I bought my first new car.

Next week, I'm giving my nephew, Harry, his first U.S. Savings Bond. I know the kid is gonna think I'm some kind of nut. But, someday . . .



Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax must be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a proud way to save.

Take stock in America.
Now Bonds pay a bonus at maturity.
